

MULE COLT DAY

Many Mules Here But Few Buyers.

Last Monday was known as mule colt day in Lancaster and they were here from every section of the county and many from adjoining counties, but for some reason few sales were made, the buyers contending the owners were asking too much, while the owners claimed that the buyers were bidding too low. We were unable to tell who was to blame but we will say that very few high class mules were offered.

A few sold for $60 and on up to $130, the latter being a very fine one and was bought by Bonta Brothers of Harrodsburg.

Aged mules were dull and only a few sold. Ollie Johnson sold two nice plantation horses to Mr. Letton Vemont, of Paris for $650.00. R. L. Arnold sold a team of horse mules to Georgia parties for $375.00.

Cracks At Creation.

Apparently everyone is yelling "profiteer" at everybody but himself.

High cost of living? You bet! Life is just one expensive eat after another.

The high cost of babies, it seems, is interfering seriously with the marriage market.

Now that feminine hosiery is constantly on display just where do the fair ones carry those bulging powder puffs?

Store Closes.

Our store will be closed Saturday, October 4th, on account of Jewish holiday, Yon Kippoor or day of atonement.

25-2t. Joseph Mercantile Co.

GREEN BOWLING,

Named as County Campaign Chairman.

The naming of Hon. Green Bowling as chairman of the Democratic County Campaign Committee was a wise appointment and to our mind one of the best that could have been made. He is going at his work with a vengeance and purposes to put Garrard county in the Democratic ranks where she naturally belongs, in November.

Mr. Bowling is a democrat of the old school, exceedingly popular and has always been known as one of the best campaign workers in the county. If he gets the support and co-operation that he expects and deserves from the democrats of Garrard county, there will be a different tale told in November, than was told in our August election.

Go to it Mr. Bowling, our hats are off to you and our coats are off to your service, command us at your will.

FOR SALE.

THREE FORD TRUCKS. All in Good Condition. Just Overhauled. O. R. CARPENTER, At Garrard Mill.

Hemp Seed Wanted.

We are in the market for cultivated hemp seed. Write or call Hudson, Hughes and Farnau, Lancaster, Ky. 18-2t.

Teachers Money.

Miss Jennie Higgins wishes us to say that she is ready to pay all teachers for their first month salary, provided they have their report signed by both trustee and chairman and on file in her office.

Next Week.

Watch for the advertisement of the Joseph Mercantile Company, which will appear next week on the personal page of the paper, and each week thereafter throughout the remainder of the year.

Carolina Tobacco.

Mr. Woods Walker brought to this office a sample of North Carolina tobacco that recently sold over the breaks there for 90 cents a pound. It is very much like the Garrard county product but is lacking in the length.

Wind Storm.

A slight windstorm struck Lancaster last Friday just after the close of the circus in the afternoon. The tent was blown down and one of the musicians slightly hurt, resulting in no show at night. Other damage was done to the water tower of the Ice Plant and about one hundred dollars damage to the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse.

The Work Grows.

Standardization of poultry, which means one breed for each county, is now being put into operation in 85 counties in Kentucky under the direction of the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture. This past spring 461,000 purebred eggs were distributed in these 85 counties. It is predicted that 750,000 purebred eggs of standard breeds will be sold for setting next season.

Enrollment Was Big.

Last week long lines of young men and young women waited for a chance to register at the State University. It was a busy time for all concerned, but it was an extremely pleasant time because the war was a thing of the past and youth was again knocking at the door of opportunity in the good old fashioned way. The enrollment during the first few days proved conclusively that 1919-20 will be a banner year for old State.

Boys And Girls Win.

Again this season the boys and girls in the Pig Clubs have taken high honors over veteran breeders at the State Fair which has just closed. The Junior Championship in Hampshire classes went to Wm. J. Mamby, Jr., of LaGrange, who is only eleven years old. In the Breeders' Junior Sow Pig Class for Durocs, the club members took first, second and third with 37 showing.

Leona Downs, Cox's Creek, took first with her gilt Down's Best.

Chas. M. Wheeler, Buechel, got second place with Taxpayer's Minnie.

George Hayden, Springfield, secured the third prize with Hayden's Cardinal Queen.

CITY PROPERTY

In Great Demand And Selling Rapidly.

Never in the history or memory of the oldest inhabitant has there been such a demand for city property as there is at present. The number of sales during the last few weeks has been unprecedented.

Last Saturday afternoon, Mr. D. A. Thomas sold for Kinnaird Sisters their property on Danville Street, to Mr. R. Zimmer for $9,025. On the same afternoon he sold the property of Anderson Brothers to Mr. Mike Forbes for $5010. The Lewis property owned by J. W. Smith and the Embury property also owned by Mr. Smith was sold by Swinebroad, the former to J. E. Thompson for $8000 and the Embury property to Mr. Ira Holtzclaw for $6,000. The Haselden property owned by G. C. Walker was sold by the United Realty and Development Co., of which Mr. J. S. Haselden is manager, was sold to Dr. Prentiss Walker for $6,000 and the cottage across the street to the Baptist church for $3,000.

All of this property was sold at public auction and all of these firms have sales advertised in this issue of the Record. Read them and keep posted as to the dates.

Next Tuesday.

The live stock sale of Carrier and Sanders appears in this issue. In the sale will be included 113 good grade ewes that will be sold worth the money. Read the adv.

Blue Grass B. Y. P. U.

The Fourth Annual meeting of the "Blue Grass B. Y. P. U. Association of Central Kentucky" will convene at Stamping Ground Kentucky, Oct. 2nd and 3rd, 1919. Preparations are being made for a fine meeting and each B. Y. P. U. in Central Kentucky is invited to send delegates.

Republican Speaking.

Hon. George W. Colvin, of Springfield, candidate on the Republican ticket for Superintendent of Public Instruction, spoke at the court house here last Friday afternoon and made a good speech from his standpoint. He is a pleasant and fluent speaker and would have had a larger audience had it not been for the circus which was on parade at the time he was billed to speak and naturally the crowd followed the parade to the circus grounds.

Grand Lodge Meeting I. O. O. F.

Five Thousand Odd Fellows of Kentucky and Southern Indiana are expected to attend the Kentucky State Grand Lodge meeting in Louisville Tuesday and Wednesday, October 14 and 15th. The exemplifications of the Second Degree on Tuesday night by Home Lodge No. 25, with their champion degree team, is the drawing card.

The sessions of the Grand Lodge will be held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. The Second Degree work will be exemplified in the Armory, one of the largest exhibit halls in the world, whose balcony seats six thousand people. A class of one hundred and twenty five will be initiated.

A special train of Odd Fellows from Harrodsburg and vicinity has already been arranged for. It is probable that other specials will be made up from western and eastern Kentucky. A rate of one and one-third fare has been granted for all points of Kentucky.

This rate will be granted on the certificate plan, and those attending should secure certificates and receipts from the station agents in their home towns before they start for Louisville. Efforts are being made to secure a special rate from southern Indiana points, with good prospects of success.

In Kentucky there are 27,000 Odd Fellows, members of three hundred and sixty local lodges. These lodges will send eight hundred official representatives alone to the Louisville Convention. In southern Indiana there are 30,000 Odd Fellows, of whom ten per cent are expected to come to the meeting.

BOAR FOR SALE—Big type Duroc, Orion and Defender breeding. None Better. Registered. Summized. First class individual. Excellent sire. Has had best of care and easy service. In perfect condition and health. Twenty-three months old. Selling to dissolve partnership. Henry Lloyd and E. C. Cheatham, Lancaster, Ky., Phone 382-A. 25-2t.

CAMPAIGN OPENS

Two Good Speeches Here Last Monday.

The court house was practically filled here last Monday, to hear the opening of the Democratic campaign in this county, with speeches by "Judge" Kendrick Alcorn, of Stanford and Hon. Scott Mays, of Louisville.

"Judge" Alcorn who was not a stranger to a Garrard county audience is at his best when it comes to making a democratic speech and his remarks were heartily applauded by the enthusiastic hearers.

Hon. Scott Mays, who was formerly Collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville spoke for nearly an hour and held the attention of the crowd during the entire time. It was Mr. Mays' first appearance in Lancaster and he made many friends' all of whom will greet him warmly should he ever return to Lancaster.

O'POSSUM

Invades Hen Roost.

Last Friday night a large opossum invaded the hen house of Misses Lillian and Kate Kinnaird and Mary and Jane Doty, on Danville street and but for the noise made by the hens in their alarm, the entire flock might have been annihilated. The young ladies rushed to their aid and found that one hen had been killed and old brer possum was shyly approaching another on one of the roosts of the house. A neighbor was called and the possum was killed without further ceremony. The total loss was a big fat hen.

Don't forget the lot sale at Buckeye, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. See advertisement in this issue.

Notice.

All American Legion Members of Post Heidelberg No. 35 are requested to meet in the offices of Dr. John M. Acton on Friday night, Sept. 23rd, at 7:15 P. M. This is very important and all members are cordially asked to be present at this meeting. The Committee.

Protracted Meeting.

A protracted meeting will begin next Monday night at Fairview church on the Richmond pike, conducted by Rev. Frank Tindler. We predict splendid results from these meetings, as Mr. Tindler is a fluent, forceful and earnest speaker and has many friends in the county who will hear him during his meetings there. Everyone cordially invited.

Errors Corrected.

In the rush of our large paper last week, an advertisement stated that Haselden Brothers were the agents for the Western Electric Power and Light, when in fact, Bastin Brothers are the sole agents.

In the advertisement of the Welsh Department Stores, our type said that they were selling timothy seed for 25 cents a bushel, when it should have been $6.25 a bushel. We are sorry for the mistakes and will try to avoid such in the future.

Foot Ball.

The boys of the High School met a few days ago and organized a Foot Ball Team and are now working hard each afternoon for its success.

The following named high school students were elected to look after the interest of the team.

Elisha Carrier, Manager. Francis "Todd" Elliott, Captain; and Clyde Holtzclaw, Secty and Treasurer.

At this time quite a few High Schools have called Manager Carrier for a game and it is the intention of the team to have a game on the local gridiron next Friday week.

Boost Your Home Team.

Some Private Sales.

Aside from the many sales of city property at public auction several private sales have been made recently.

Mr. R. H. Batson sold his residence to Haselden Brothers for $8,000, possession to be given January 1st. Mr. W. T. West sold to J. I. Hamilton the store room that was once used for the post office, who in turn sold it to Haselden Brothers and will be occupied by the Lancaster Auto Sales Company. Squire S. T. Sanders bought the H. T. Logan property on Danville street for $7,200; L. G. Davidson sold his residence on Richmond street to Dr. M. S. Hatfield for $5,200 and possession was given the first of the month.

THE POT BOILING.

Meeting At Baptist Church Drawing Large Crowds.

The evangelistic services at the Baptist Church have awakened much interest and are being well attended. Rev. C. O. Johnson has already found a place in the hearts of those who have heard him. Everyone declares him to be one of the most interesting speakers they have ever heard. Bro. Johnson preaches twice every day. The morning services begin at 10 o'clock and last only one hour. The evening service begins at 7:45.

The following are some of the subjects upon which Bro. Johnson will speak:

"On A Barbed Wire Fence."
"The Magnetism of Jesus."
"The Back Yard."
"When The Devil Goes Fishing."
"Anchored."
"Red Lights."
"On The Witness Stand for Jesus."
"Climbing The Golden Stairs."
"Am I A Christian?"
"The Unpardonable Sin."
"The Home Over There."
"The Dissatisfied Christian."
"The Final Judgment."

"Breaking The Alabaster Box." Sunday will be a very interesting and a very important day. It is state mission day in the Sunday School and Bro. Johnson will lead the children in song and make the entire morning service interesting to all. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a service for men only. The subject for the afternoon is "The Price Of A Haircut". The evening service will also be a great one. Come early and get a good seat. Do not miss any of these splendid services.

C. D. STROTHER, Pastor.

Don't forget the lot sale at Buckeye, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. See advertisement in this issue.

Pie Supper.

There will be a Pie Supper at the Goshen Church on Saturday Sept. 27th, at 8 o'clock. Proceeds to go for the benefit of the church. Everyone is cordially invited.

September 26 and 30th.

Tomorrow, Friday night, you will see that popular movie actress, Pearl White, in The Lightning Raider, at Romans Opera House. There will be several other high class pictures, also a good orchestra will furnish the music. Regular admission. Don't miss it.

On next Tuesday, the 30th, you will see that wonderful picture, "An Eye for an Eye". It is said that a man in Chicago said he would give $1,000 to see it. If you are not blind, don't fail to see this good picture, Tuesday night at Romans Opera House.

Swinebroad Still

Sells 'Em.

The climax was capped by Swinebroad the real estate man, when he sold the "Baughman Heights" near Danville last week, containing 240 lots for a total of $115,000. Another good sale by him Tuesday, was the sale of the Montgomery or Steele farm in Lincoln, when B. M. Cowan got 112 acres for $13,622.00 and David Overstreet got 134 acres for about $6,000. He also sold yesterday the 435 acre farm of Hendren and Woods, in Madison county at an average of $170.43.

Morrow Names

Seven For Board.

Hon. Edwin P. Morrow, Republican candidate for Governor, has named seven persons, three Democrats, three Republicans, and one Independent, whom he has selected, without salary, to have general supervision of penely and charitable institutions of the state in the event of his election as Governor.

The seven are: Dr. W. A. Ganfield, Danville, Ky., and President of Centre College; Dr. Frank Sprague, head of Sprague Sanatorium, Lexington; Edward W. Hines, Louisville; Fred M. Sackett, Louisville; Mrs. Lafon Riker, president of the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs, Harrodsburg; Clarence U. McElroy, Bowling Green and Mrs. Alice Hegar Rice, Louisville.

Our philosopher says: A field is like a horse, it's got to be fed and handled and thought about a good deal to be kept in condition.

GRAHAM PRICE

Well Known And Well Connected Here,

Passes Away At His Home In Danville.

The death of Mr. Robert Graham Price at his home in Danville last Friday morning, was learned with deep regret by friends and relatives in this county, where he spent his early childhood, before moving to Danville.

The following from the Danville Daily Messenger of last Friday says:

"Mr. Robert Graham Price, one of the most prominent citizens of Danville, passed away at his home on West Lexington street this morning at 2:30 o'clock of Bright's disease. He had been critically ill for several days and death was not unexpected. He was born in Garrard county on November 29, 1866, and came to Danville when ten years old, living here ever since.

Mr. Price was educated at Centre College and was appointed Clerk of the Boyle Circuit Court on July 31, 1899, by Judge M. C. Sauley to take the place of his brother, Hon. W. J. Price, who was elected county attorney. He served as Circuit Clerk for many years and made a popular official. He was also a practicing attorney and a member of the local bar. He numbered his friends by his acquaintances and will be greatly missed in the community.

Deceased is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Mary Walker, of this city, his mother, Mrs. W. C. Price, and two brothers, Hon. William Jennings Price, Minister to Panama, and Mr. Herbert H. Price, of Danville.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. E. M. Green, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Price was a member. Immediately after the services the body will be taken to the cemetery at Lancaster, where it will rest in a vault temporarily.

BUYING LUXURIES.

Wage Earners Doing Share Toward Keeping Up Prices.

Luxuries are in excellent demand. The wage-earner is contributing a big share of it. He wonders perhaps why he finds it hard to make ends meet. He blames high prices. He insists on higher pay. He berates the system which compels some to toil and others to handle the money which makes it possible for him to labor. But does he stop to ask where the fault lies that he is not "getting along"? No one begrudges him luxuries. He is entitled to them, must and should have them. Modern life demands it, else he would not be mentally fit to labor. But there must be a limit to every man's expenditures. It is no more reasonable to suppose that the man of wealth will continue to be helpful to the community if he squanders his money in self-pampering than it is which he is, if he neglects to provide judiciously, thriftily, for his household to suppose that the wage earner will remain the backbone of industry, hold. There are luxuries and luxuries. Some of them can become nothing short of criminal extravagance—it depends on who indulges in them.

Card Of Thanks.

We take this method of expressing our thanks for the kindness shown us by our friends and neighbors during the illness and death of our dear husband and father.

Mrs. J. M. Broadbudd and family.

FOR RENT:—A nice cottage on Danville street, formerly occupied by Harry. J. W. Elmore.

Don't forget the lot sale at Buckeye, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. See advertisement in this issue.

FOR SALE:—The Totten place, Crab Orchard Street, four acres, splendid house, large barn, garage, cistern, and never failing spring. 25-2t. H. Clay Hamilton.

STRAYED—from my place, on Back Creek, Saturday Sept. 20th, a black mare with white hind feet, about 14 1-2 hands high. Liberal reward. Joseph Brewer, 25-2t. R. F. D. 1, Lancaster, Ky.

BIGGEST LAND SALE EVER CONDUCTED IN KENTUCKY.

FAMOUS RUSSELL CAVE PIKE, NEAR LEXINGTON

1541 ACRES OF HAGGIN LAND SUB-DIVIDED WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION THURSDAY, OCT. 2nd,

at 10:30 A. M. Rain or Shine.

This large farm has 5 miles of pike frontage, and owing to the enormous investment in improvements made by the late Mr. J. B. Haggin, it will be necessary to have several farms containing about 250 to 300 acres, but we will also have some small tracts and will in a few days publish a map showing how this property is subdivided. This map will show also, all the expensive plumbing and water lines that spread like network over the farm. Each tract we sell will have the running water thereon, and each purchaser will receive a deed to his interest in the water system. This magnificent never failing water system is separate and apart from any other part of the famous Haggin land; it has its own 25,000 gallon tank, its own large gasoline engine, and its own source of supply in a spring the bottom of which has never been found. We bought this system complete with the farm, and you get it without any reservations, all purchasers sharing in its ownership with only a nominal annual charge for maintenance and operation.

This farm has about 900 acres in old blue grass sod, also a lot of virgin soil; is fenced and water-gapped throughout with the well-known Haggin type; and listen: Has 5 main dwellings, twenty small houses, seven $5000.00 tobacco barns, 11 fine Haggin stock barns, silos, etc., all equipped with running water. We have 12 small houses on the Ferguson pike which adjoins and are on 5 acre lots; these also equipped with running water, and will be sold separately and not with any tract or as a whole.

This magnificent estate lies in the best section of Grand Old Fayette County.

Although we have had numerous requests for prices on this land, we positively will not sell any of it at private sale, "then run it through the auction sale," as has been suggested by friends who haven't had the experience in the auction sale business that we have. When you are the last bidder on one of these tracts, you will certainly get a deed and it will be yours to hold and enjoy as long as you live (unless you price it) and to increase in value from time to time.

For further information and description, see later ads, but in the meantime if you wish to see the property take it up with C. N. Manning or S. A. Wallace, at the Security Trust Company, or O. O. Carpenter, or S. H. Johnson on the farm, or the undersigned.

Mother Shipton Told of Aviation in 1488.

The following, which is known as "Mother Shipton's Prophecy," was first published in 1488, republished in 1641 and again in 1875. It will be noticed that all the events predicted in it except the last two lines have come to pass:

"Carriages without horses shall go;
And accidents fill the world with woe.
Around the world thought shall fly,
In the twinkling of an eye;
Water shall yet more wonders do:
How strange, yet shall be true.
The world upside down shall be,
And gold be found at root of tree,
Through hills men shall ride,
And no horse or ass be at his side,
Under water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk,
In the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, in green.
Iron in water shall float
As easy as a wooden boat,
Gold shall be found, and shown
In a land that is not known.
Fire and water shall wonders do,
England shall at last admit a Jew.

The world to an end shall come
In eighteen hundred and eighty-one."

ELECTION For School Trustees Saturday Oct. 4th.

Notices have been sent throughout the various districts notifying the trustees of the election to be held on OCTOBER 4th, beginning at one o'clock on this afternoon. Miss Higgins, our Superintendent is exceedingly anxious that more interest be taken in these elections for trustees than have been in the past. It is rather discouraging to the trustees to have so little interest from the patrons and we are urged that all patrons come out on this day, Saturday, October 4th, and take part in these elections.

Trustees will be elected in the following sub-districts:

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The people of Kentucky are in favor of the League of Nations, there is no more doubt of that than there is that the Republicans are gum-shoeing about that matter over the State and remaining silent on what mothers and fathers of American boys regard as the greatest issue this country has faced in a century—the issue of whether there shall be an international tribunal that will make wars in the future, if not impossible, at least difficult. The Democratic platform and the Democratic candidates warmly endorse the League of Nations, while Republican Senators fighting the treaty which is the hope of the world for future peace, have made it necessary for the hard-worked President of the United States to leave Washington and make an appeal directly to the people, telling them the truth about the treaty to counteract the misrepresentation of Republican speakers in the Senate of the United States. Let the people of Kentucky take warning from these Republican opponents of the President in the Senate. Let them take warning from this action of a political party willing to play politics while the world starves and is on fire with conditions of unrest that will not be stilled until the great American Republic, whose entrance into the war definitely sounded the doom of German junkerism and ended the hope of Hun world-domination, has definitely acted on the peace treaty and notify these politicians in the Senate as well as in Kentucky that it is not a time to play politics when the world is afire and starving. One way to rebuke these Republican opponents of President Wilson is to elect James D. Black, an advocate of the League of Nations, Governor of Kentucky, November 4th, with every man on the ticket with him.

PROFITEERING IN KENTUCKY.

The investigation by the commission appointed by Governor Black of the high cost of living in Kentucky has had at least one concrete result and that is proof that S. Thurston Ballard, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor and millionaire miller of Louisville, has been charging the people of his home city and State $1.10 a barrel more for flour than the people of far away Louisiana. It has been reported that, in addition to this discount given the people of New Orleans of $1.10 below the price he is willing to sell flour to the people of Louisville, the Ballard mills also pay the freight on the flour to New Orleans, which as everybody knows, is quite some distance from Louisville, involving a freight rate of hardly less than 50 cents a barrel, though this paper has not had the time to look up that rate.

If this is not profiteering with a vengeance, and with the people of Kentucky as its victim, we should like to know what it is, and how much sincerity can be credited to the Republican party platform plank on that question.

HOGS TOP MARKET

Hogs as well as the feed you give them were never as high as before. See that your hogs get all the food value out of this high priced grain. They will do it if you make B. A. THOMAS' HOG POWDER a part of their daily diet. Tones up their entire system, aiding digestion and assimilation. We sell it. W. A. DICKERSON.

DR. PORTER

To Preach At Gilead.

Dr. J. W. Porter, who is pastor of the First Baptist church of Lexington, Ky., is going to preach at Gilead on Thursday October 2nd, at eight o'clock P. M. On Friday he will preach twice, at the eleven o'clock hour and at eight o'clock in the evening. Also on Saturday, October fourth he will preach twice, at eleven o'clock in the morning, and at eight in the evening.

We are unable to announce the text for each service, but the sermons are to be uplifting, you cannot afford to miss a single one of his sermons. Every one is invited to attend all of the services. Come while you have this rare opportunity to hear one of the ablest of God's servants. He ranks among the foremost pulpits orators of the southland.

We are going to have some good congregational singing—come and help sing.

New Real Estate Firm.

The Victory Realty Company is the latest real estate firm out and they are doing business with a vengeance. The firm is composed of S. A. Walker, who is the general manager and T. Carlton Elkin, sales manager. This firm recently pulled off a big sale in Pulaski county selling 105 acres the total amount being over $16,000. Both of these gentlemen are live wire and those placing their farms in their hands for sale will get good results. They are carrying an advertisement regularly in this paper. Read it and see what they say.

Bourne-Poynter.

Considerable surprise was occasioned here Friday afternoon, when relatives received word that Miss Hannah Lloyd Bourne and Mr. Thomas Austin Poynter, had eloped to Jellico, Tenn., where they were married.

They had been sweethearts only a few weeks, and kept their secret so well guarded about getting married, that even their most intimate friends did not know of their intentions.

The bride is the beautiful young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bourne, and is well fitted for the duties she has assumed.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Poynter, and is a very deserving young man, and is a promising young business man of this city. He made his home in Omaha, Nebraska, until several months ago, he returned to Garrard County, where he met and won one of Lancaster's sweetest girls.

Estes-Townsend.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Estes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson Estes, to Mr. George Townsend, of Clayton, Michigan, was solemnized last Saturday morning at the home of Rev. C. D. Strother, he performing the ceremony. Immediately after the marriage the happy couple left for Clayton, Michigan, where they will make their future home.

The charming bride has been the competent and popular book-keeper at the Garrard Bank and Trust Company for the past year and has made many friends, all of whom will join heartily with the Record in extending her their best wishes for a long and happy life. The groom is a splendid young man, having served honorably in the service of his country overseas, having received his discharge a few months ago. He is to be congratulated on winning the girl of his choice and we wish for both that every day through life may be as bright and happy as on their wedding morn.

Foley-Tuttle.

Miss Lizzie Foley of lower Garrard, and Mr. Charlie Tuttle of Barboursville surprised their many friends last Wednesday morning by going to Lancaster to the home of Rev. Palmeter, and were united in marriage.

Miss Foley is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Foley, and the man of her choice is to be congratulated on winning such an ideal life companion. She is a popular and lovable young lady and counts her friends by the score.

Mr. Tuttle is a native of Knox county, and a young man of sterling qualities. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple motored to Stanford and took the train for Barboursville, where they are now with the grooms parents. We join the many friends of the contracting parties, in wishing for Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle a long happy and prosperous life.

Don't forget the lot sale at Buckeye, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. See advertisement in this issue.

Lane.

The friends of Mrs. Ed Lane were grieved to hear of her death, which occurred at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Merida, last Tuesday morning Sept. 16th, at 11:35, of typhoid fever.

She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Merida, and was 26 years of age. Eight years ago she married Mr. Ed Lane. Besides the grief stricken husband, parents, sisters and brothers, she leaves three little sons, who will so miss the love and tender care of a mother.

Mrs. Lane was a lovely christian character and loved by all who knew her. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones in their dark hour but may they look to the Heavenly Father for comfort.

Broaddus.

Mr. John C. Broaddus, a splendid citizen of Garrard county, living four miles of Lancaster on the Buckeye pike, died suddenly Thursday morning at 11:30 of Bright's disease.

His passing away brought grief and sorrow to the entire community. Mr. Broaddus had not been well for several months, but his death was a shock to his family, relatives and friends. He was a good neighbor, a loving husband and father, devoted to his home and family.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Broaddus of Kirksville. In 1881 he married Miss Malinda Turner of Madison County, where they lived until 10 years ago, when they moved to Garrard County. Eight children survive them, Mrs. W. T. Prewitt of Pongdale, Illinois, Mrs. Marcus White, Misses Anna Mae, Lida and Jean Broaddus, Messrs. Clay, John C. and Thompson, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm Broaddus of Kirksville, and one sister, Mrs. John Ross, and one brother, Mr. W. D. Broaddus, both of Madison Co.

The entire community sympathize deeply with the bereaved ones in their loss. The funeral services were held at the grave in the Lancaster Cemetery by Rev. B. A. Dawes, and he was laid to rest beneath a mound of beautiful flowers.

Farmers Wife Coming Into Her Own.

The farmer's wife, after generations of irksome toil, is coming into her own.

With the universal adoption of the automobile and the more recent perfection of individual electric lighting and power plants, her home-life has undergone an epochal change.

The toil and monotony which attached itself to woman's place in rural life, long has been proverbial. Removed from the city the country woman for the most part was without the scope of those many advantages which during the last century have come through invention and development.

Optimistic Thought.
One sand grain of time is worth a mountain of gold.

Daily Thought.
He bears but half who hears one party only.—Aeschylus.

Of Course Paul Wasn't Mad.
Paul and Billy live in the country. There are two girls in the family also. Their aunts in town are fond of sending them things. One package contained nothing for Paul or Billy. Paul wrote to his grandmother: "What's the matter with my aunts? They sent a package out here and there wasn't a thing for Billy or me in it, and Billy's pretty mad about it."

Burmese Marriages.
A curious idea among the Burmese is that people born on the same day of the week must not marry. Hence each girl carries a record of her birthday in her name, each day having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name that begins with that letter.

Glorious of a Nation.
The true glory of a nation is an intelligent, honest, industrious people. The civilization of a people depends on their individual character, and a constitution which is not an outgrowth of this character is not worth the parchment on which it is written. You look in vain in the past for a single instance where the people have preserved their liberties after their individual character was lost.—E. P. Whipple.

Story of the Cable Car.
In 1873, on August 1, the first cable car in the world was put into operation at San Francisco. The inventor of the cable system was Andrew Hallidie. The cable cars were introduced into Chicago eight years after their appearance on the Pacific coast and in 1881 were adopted in New York, Washington and Philadelphia and afterward in London.

Fair Play Imperative.
"Business is business" is a motto all workers should keep before them. They should demand their rights, but should remember that those in authority have rights also, and are entitled to fair, honest treatment from the people they employ. Therefore, one must learn to be punctual, non-faltering and kindly to their associates. The employee who swerves from this code is not playing fair with employer and certainly should keep silent on the question of equal rights.—Exchange.

Tattoo Removal.
Various methods for removing tattooing are employed, the best of which consists in going over the tattoo marks with a strong solution of tannin, using the tattooing needle, then rubbing with silver nitrate crayon. Nitric acid, salicylic acid and glycerine, chloroform and a mixture of pepsin, glycerine, hydrochloric acid and water are other substances used for this purpose.

"Henrys" and "Harrys."
While I know one Harry who was so christened with disregard for the more dignified Henry and there may be other instances of the kind, there seems to be little doubt that the latter is the parent of the former name. England has always called its King Henry VI, who succeeded to the throne in 1422, there was a piece of money coined called the Henry noble, and in the time of Henry VIII there was a tiny coin named the Harry groat. "In Jerusalem shall Harry die," said Henry IV.—Chicago Daily News.

Thriving Table Leg.
Among the furnishings of a South Carolina home, says Popular Mechanics magazine, is a small willow table that is the talk of the neighborhood. Although it has been kept indoors and far from any moisture ever since it was built and properly painted, several months ago, one leg is now the proud parent of four leafy sprouts, which thrive in their strange surroundings.

To Get Rid of Paint Stains.
Paint spilled on a doorstep is most unsightly, and is often rather difficult to remove. In that case make a strong solution of potash and wash the step, leaving the solution to soak in. In a short time the paint will become soft and can be washed off with soap and water. Then use cold water. Paint which has been left on for some time will yield to this treatment.

Simple Duty.
What does a man more than his simple duty in coming out for the right? Besides is it any sacrifice to be in the right?—Lowell.

Some Grownups Have Same Idea.
Miriam had been over to a neighbor's to see the new baby, and on her return I asked her what she thought of it. She replied: "Oh, I don't like 'em so fresh; I like 'em better afterward."

For Hoarseness.
Hoarseness can be relieved by mixing one teaspoonful of glycerin to the well-beaten white of an egg, the juice of one lemon and enough sugar to make it palatable.

Honesty First Requisite.
It would be an unspeakable advantage, both to the public and private; if men would consider that great truth, that no man is wise or safe but he that is honest.—Sir Walter Raleigh.

Changes Mind About Going Away.

"Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered so with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. FLORY

By MILDRED WHITE.

"Silly twaddle!" remarked James Comstock, disgustedly, and laid the book aside.

"Whose 'twaddle'?" asked a sweet voice near him, "is it?"

James glanced at the cover.

"By Flory," he quoted contemptuously. "Flory is exactly the sort of person one would expect to touch upon her subjects, like a butterfly among the flowers, with no substance or reality to hold."

"Haven't you," asked the girl at his side, "implied some of Flory's poetic phraseology? Now, I know a man who is enraptured over the little books, considers them the acme of art. Certainly they sell well."

James Comstock turned to look into the piquant face upraised to his own. Like various other guests at Mrs. Van Houton's house party, he was exceedingly curious concerning this new arrival in their social midst.

The rest of the crowd had been known to each other, either by name or reputation for years. Rhoda Kent was one of Mrs. Van Houton's discoveries. To use her son's expression, his mother had "sprung a new one," and she was delighted in her young friend's reserve. The most favored had been able to learn nothing of Rhoda's past, present or future from her own lips.

It was the unusual charm of her personality which caused deep interest upon all sides, and much conjecture. Her clothing, though in good taste, was so independently simple that many wondered if Mrs. Van Houton had taken on a protégé.

James Comstock, being acceptably the most interesting man in the set, was naturally her vis-à-vis. In fact, during the days of proximity in the fine old house his heart had known its first serious affection.

James, the heretofore invulnerable, was, as Billy Van Houton said, "decidedly hard hit."

Never before, he gloomily admitted to himself, had face or voice of woman haunted the nightly hours which should be devoted to healthful slumber. So James was justified in possessing more than the usual share of curiosity concerning the real life of the winsome Rhoda.

"Perhaps," he said in answer to her defense of the book discussed, "this 'Flory' may say more, in a light manner, than I am clever enough to grasp. But, fancy, for instance, being married to such a dreamer. Poor husband of Flory! With his wife always soaring above the blue. She isn't so bad at rhyme, though, I'll admit; seems to have a number of little verses scattered through here and there, with a bar of music to start them off. Helps to sell, I suppose. Makes the book look easy to read."

Miss Kent nodded laughingly. "But you would not want to be the suffering husband who must listen to his wife singing those things around the house," she said.

"Heaven forbid!" James plausibly ejaculated. And the lovely girl at his side arose in response to Mrs. Van Houton's call.

"Come here, Rhoda," cried that merry person. "Here are half a dozen bored people wishing to be entertained. My hope lies in you."

James Comstock gazed after the graceful figure regretfully. The glance she threw back at him was strangely disquieting. For days he had been joyously secure in a consciousness of the girl's preference. Unaccountably discouragement came upon him. Rhoda's eyes had gazed at him reproachfully, her lips had closed firmly, as though in displeasure. Then presently he heard her voice in song, as she accompanied herself upon the piano.

It was a little Scotch tune that the girl played and the words sounded vaguely familiar. Comstock leaning forward, listening attentively, found that voice and tune thrilled him with inexplicable tenderness. Where—had he—heard—the words?

Idly his gaze fell upon the opened book of "Flory." Then he knew. It was one of the despised Flory's verses that his beloved was singing. And after a round of involuntary hand-clapping he heard Mrs. Van Houton's triumphant announcement:

"I had not intended to tell you for awhile; we have had such fun keeping our secret. But Rhoda Kent is 'Flory,' as you have guessed, with those delightful books to her credit."

Comstock sat staring dully at the volume in his hand long after silence proclaimed that Rhoda's audience had departed. Bitterly he recalled his recent condemning conversation, with its fervent "Heaven forbid!" that a wife such as she should be his own. Well, he had done for himself this time, he bitterly reflected, and this time was all that counted in the world. "If you please," asked Rhoda severely, "may I have that book of 'Silly twaddle'?"

Wretchedly he looked up into the lovely face above his.

"And—I was going to ask you to be my wife."

"Heaven forbid!" murmured Rhoda. "A wife floating around in the blue." Her voice broke in soft uncontrollable laughter. Eagerly he caught at her hands.

"I will drop the name 'Flory,'" Rhoda said later; "Mrs. James Comstock will give to the book the proper dignity which it deserves."

GRAIN CONSUMPTION VARIES DURING YEAR

Feeding of Oats Is More Uniform Than That of Corn.

Barley, Wheat and Rye Approach Monthly Uniformity in Degree Less Than Oats—Silage Reaches High Point in February.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Whether the supposition is that the consumption of corn by live stock on farms in the United States varies little from month to month, or that the summer consumption is relatively small, the fact, as ascertained by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, is that during the six months from May to October nearly three-eighths of the year's corn ration is eaten, and from November to April five-eighths. The warm-weather fraction will seem large or small according to the size of the guess. Oats, more than corn, is the feed from April to September, and the monthly consumption of oats is more uniform throughout the year than that of corn. Barley, wheat and rye approach monthly uniformity in degree less than that of oats throughout the year and a concentration of consumption in the colder months is found in hay, silage and mill feed, as in the case of corn.

Of the year's entire consumption of corn by live stock on farms the highest consumption in one month is 11.5 per cent in December, and the lowest 4.6 per cent in August. For oats the highest is 9.8 per cent in April and the lowest 6.8 per cent in December; barley, highest 10.9 per cent in November and lowest 6 per cent in June and also in July; rye, highest 10.3 per cent in October and lowest 7.1 per cent in July; wheat, highest 11.4 per cent in November and lowest 5.8 per cent in July.

Mill feed consumption rises to 4.8 per cent in July and rises to 11.5 per cent in February and again in March. More unequal yet is hay consumption, with its range from the highest, 14.2 per cent in February and also in March to 3.2 per cent in August; and another degree is reached by silage, the consumption of which rises to 16.8 per cent of the year's total in February and falls to 1 per cent in July and again in August.

COMMUNITY LIME SPREADER

Farmers of Otsego County, N. Y., Solve Problem of Spreading Lime at Proper Time.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Members of the farm bureau in one of the communities of Otsego county, New York, have combined and purchased a lime spreader, and have thus taken a long step in solving their problem of applying lime at the proper time of the year and in sufficient quantities to get results. The spreader is to be rotated among the members. Nonmembers may also use it by paying 25 cents an acre. In the early stages of the use of lime in a community, especially in a small way, spreaders are often not available because single land owners hesitate to purchase them. Even after the use of lime is established a single machine will often meet the needs of several farmers.

HOW TO INTRODUCE QUEENS

It Is Necessary to Remove Old and Defective Ones and Replace Them With Younger Stock.

Every beekeeper who is really caring for his bees should know how to introduce queens, because it is necessary to remove old and defective queens and replace them by young vigorous ones.

Queens may be introduced in cells or after they have emerged from cells, while still unfertilized, or after they have begun to lay.

TROUBLE IN FIGHTING WEEDS

Sheep and Goats Will Be Found Efficient in Eradication of Many Noxious Plants.

Some of the trouble and expense ordinarily experienced in fighting weeds might be dispensed with by keeping sheep and goats to graze the noxious plants. At present prices for wool, mohair and mutton these animals ought to be profitable.

THE NOTED

400 ACRE FARM

Of J. F. Cook at Auction

ON THE PREMISES

Wednesday October 8th, 1919

At 10:30 A. M.

THE RESIDENCE

This celebrated stock farm which has been in the Cook family for over 100 years is located 5 miles from Stanford, 7 miles from Lancaster, 4 miles from Rowland, livestock shipping point for Cincinnati and Louisville, and one mile from the Preachersville and Stanford turnpike, with good county road leading to same. This farm lies on Dix River and most of it is bottom land. This farm has been subdivided into five tracts as follows.

Tract No. 1.—Contains 135 acres, 13-room brick house in first class condition. One of the very best houses in the county. Has two presses built in the wall of most every room. Smoke house, carriage house, hen house, one of the best springs and spring houses in the county and a 50 barrel concrete trough. Tenant house and an 8-acre tobacco barn and a 350-barrel corn crib. This farm is bounded on one side by Dick's River and all bottom land except 30 acres. 20 acres of blue grass sod that was never plowed. 60 acres in grass and 20 acres just broken out of sod. An ideal home and everything in tip top shape.

Tract No. 2.—About 75 acres of bottom land, bounded on one side by the river. One stock barn, 7-acre tobacco barn and stock scales. All in grass with the exception of 15 acres.

Tract No. 3.—Contains 87 acres; 7-acre tobacco barn; 300-barrel crib; 200-ton silo, well and spring and some pretty building sites and road leading to river. All in grass and 40 acres that has just been plowed once.

Tract No. 4.—Contains 95 acres with 10-acre tobacco barn; small stock barn; well and spring and road leading to the river. All in grass except about 20 acres has been plowed. This has 35 acres of the best tobacco land on the farm.

Tract No. 5.—Contains three acres. All bottom land and as rich as cream. All the barns on this farm built out of oak and all painted. Enough tobacco can be grown on each farm to pay for them in two and three years; no better improved farms can be found in the county.

Mr. J. F. Cook will be on the farm two days prior to sale to show parties over the farm. Mr. Hollar, or the real estate men are at our service to show you over it at anytime you may care to look. There will be a tobacco show on the day of the sale by the tenants which will be judged by one of the big tobacco men of Lexington. This will be the biggest tobacco show outside the State Fair.

The Young Woman's Missionary Society of the Stanford Christian Church will furnish dinner.

TERMS—Exceedingly easy and made known on day of sale. Better make your arrangements and attend this sale—it will be one of the big sales of the season. After the sale of the land Mr. Cook will sell all live stock, farming implements, etc.

THE COMPROMISE

By GLADYS P. ANDERSEN.

Mrs. Adams was making preparations for the noon meal when the door opened quickly and a girl about sixteen rushed in, quite out of breath.

"I'm here at last, mother," Mrs. Adams glanced up from her work. "I was calling Vivian," she said.

"Why, mother, I am Vivian." The girl threw back her curly head and laughed merrily. "Won't you ever be able to tell us twins apart?"

"I thought by the way you came in through the door 'twas Vivian. She always comes in like a shot from a gun. Where have you girls been?"

"Down by the river. The wind blew so we did not hear you when you first called."

"Well," said Mrs. Adams, "Miss Emery has just been here and invited both of you girls to her musicale next Wednesday evening."

"She said it was going to be just grand. Professor West, who has just returned from France, is going to sing. He is Sergeant West now, you know."

"You said she invited us both?" Vivian gasped.

"Yes, dear, and I am afraid you will have a hard time deciding," her mother answered.

"There's nothing to decide. It's Vivian's turn. I went to the sociable last month, you know. Oh, how I wish we had more than one best dress!" she exclaimed passionately.

It was not until Wednesday morning that Vivian appeared to cheer up somewhat. She had a consultation with her mother, who interrupted her by exclaiming, "It will never do. Of course there's no harm in it, but if you get into any trouble, don't blame anyone but yourselves."

"No one will ever know about it," responded Vivian confidently.

"I'll go down to the village now and call at Mrs. Blake's. I know she will be willing."

Mrs. Blake lived across from Miss Emery's, and she received Vivian cordially.

That evening, Vivian, in her pink silk muslin that belonged to her and her sister jointly, went timidly up the path leading to the Emery home, feeling very happy.

Miss Emery, in beautiful brocaded silk, was passing through the hall when Vivian was shown in by the butler.

"Which one is it?" she asked. "I'm sorry you both couldn't have come." Vivian was placed where she could see everyone who played or sang. Then she gave herself up to enjoyment. She watched Sergeant West eagerly. It was only in dreams that she had ever heard such tones.

Sergeant West saw her and met the vivid glance of her eyes.

He turned to his hostess and said, "Can that young lady sing?"

"Indeed she can," answered Miss Emery promptly.

The next moment Vivian felt a hand on her shoulder. She looked admiringly into Sergeant West's face. "Will you sing for me?" he asked.

"I will play for you and you may sing what you please. Are you willing?"

"I'll try," she answered shyly. It was nearly an hour later that Sergeant West again remembered the girl.

"I want you to sing once more," he said. "I have a plan. You have a voice, and with teaching, you could become a singer. Perhaps I can arrange to give you a couple of hours each week."

"I'm afraid I am a bit timid," said the girl, "but since you ask me I will try."

He was sorry for her as she stood by the piano. Her face was very white, and her lips almost stiff.

"Have courage," said the singer. "You did so well before."

The accompaniment began; but when an untutored, but rich contralto voice commenced the song there was a sudden discord among the keys of the piano, and Sergeant West wheeled about and stared at the trembling girl beside him. "What does it mean?" cried the artist.

"It cannot be possible that this girl has two distinct singing voices, one very high and the other very low."

The girl at whom everyone was now looking, tried twice to speak before she could say a word. Then she stammered, "I—I am the other twin if you please, sir."

"You are not the one that sang first?" he asked.

"No, sir, that was my sister, Vivian. It was her turn with our dress."

Vivian stammered, then was silent. One half-hour before, Vivian had slipped out unobserved and met her sister at Mrs. Blake's. In their hurry in exchanging gowns, Vivian had not told her sister she had been obliged to sing.

The next morning Sergeant West returned to New York. While he was waiting for his train, he saw two girls in plain gingham gowns, hurrying down the road. It was Vivian that spoke for both.

"Sergeant West, we could not help coming to see you off—and to thank you."

Happiness shone in two pairs of eyes when he answered, "I shall not forget the lessons I am to give you when I return next month."

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome. This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it. Give it a trial for a week or two.

and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your stomach begins to work again. See how regular your bowels become. See how good, healthy appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive. Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25¢ a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merit. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for indigestion, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

POTATOES PROPERLY STORED FOR WINTER

Approximately One-Third of Crop
Is Marketed in Fall.

Reserve Supply Must Be Protected
From Extremes of Heat and Cold
—Provide Sufficient Ventilation and Avoid Moisture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Potatoes properly stored should not sustain a loss throughout the winter season of more than 5 per cent, and under exceptionally good conditions not more than 3 or 4 per cent. The maximum return from the crop after it is produced depends on the care with which the potatoes are harvested, stored, graded, sacked, and the ability of the grower to sell at the most advantageous time. Approximately one-third of the main potato crop is marketed at harvest time, and the remainder is stored as a reserve supply for winter and spring. It is physically impossible, as well as economically undesirable, to attempt to market the entire crop in the autumn, and the only way in which potatoes can be handled successfully, so as to insure a uniform supply, is to provide sufficient storage on the farm or at the shipping station for from 65 to 75 per cent of the crop.

Various types of storage places are now in use, ranging from pits or cheaply constructed dug-outs to large, substantially built storage houses. Plans for the construction of storage houses are given in the department's Farmers' Bulletin 847.

For successful storage, the tubers must be protected from extremes of cold and heat; a temperature of from 35 to 40 degrees F. is considered satisfactory. Sufficient ventilation must be provided to remove foul air and excessive moisture. The storage house must be so constructed as to make it possible to exclude the light, as the table quality of potatoes quickly deteriorates in the light.

The tubers should be dry and reasonably free from dirt when put into storage, an excess of moisture or soil increases the amount of heat in newly stored potatoes. The soil tends to fill up the spaces between the tubers, thus cutting off air circulation, and helping to retain heat that would otherwise escape. All diseased, badly cut, or bruised tubers should be removed from the crop before putting it into storage.

It is a common practice for commercial growers and shippers to store potatoes in bins to a depth of 10 to 15 feet. This is almost certain to entail a much heavier shrinkage loss than when stored to a depth of not more than 6 feet. The heavier shrinkage is the result of the greater amount of heat generated by a large pile of potatoes, which results in a higher amount of moisture loss as well as a heavier loss from decay, as heat and moisture both help to develop organisms causing tuber rot. Frequently the losses sustained when the potatoes are stored under these conditions reach 25 per cent, and where rigid care has not been exercised to remove all diseased tubers before storing the crop, the loss is even greater. It is advisable, therefore, to pile the potatoes not greater than 5 or 6 feet deep, and the floor dimensions of the bin should not be greater than 12x12 feet unless provided with a series of ventilating shafts or division walls for the escape of moisture and heat.

RAISE RABBITS FOR PROFITS

Little Domestic Animals Are Easy to Handle and Remarkably Free From Disease.

Rabbit raising on a backyard scale is not an experiment. Thousands of small rabbitries in this country are producing meat crops regularly for family tables. These domestic animals are easily raised and remarkably free from disease when properly cared for.

The Belgian hare is one of the best rabbits for table use. It weighs more than most breeds, develops rapidly and the quality of the meat is superior to all the others. The Flemish giant is a Belgian hare bred exclusively for large size, with the result that the meat is coarser and less delicate in flavor. These characteristics are considered by some persons as desirable, but this is largely a matter of individual taste.

EXPERIMENT IN STEER FEED

Pennsylvania Station 'Makes Successful Test With Silage, Stover and Linseed Oil Meal.

Twelve head of two-year-old steers were fed at the Pennsylvania experiment station on a ration of 41.09 pounds of corn silage, 2.12 pounds of shredded corn stover and 3.02 pounds of linseed oil meal per head daily. They made an average daily gain of 2.22 pounds per head at a cost of $13.84 per hundredweight. The cattle were valued at $14.40 per hundred, making a net profit of $20.93 per head.

DICK'S DIPLOMACY

By ADELAIDE R. KEMP.

Mollie stood by the little white gate gazing down the road, grass-grown and tree-shaded.

She was just about to return to the house when the figure of a small boy coming up the road, holding a small flag and whistling "Yankee Doodle," attracted her attention. As he came nearer she saw that he belonged to the new family only recently moved into the big house on the hill. The strong feeling of loneliness and her desire for human companionship caused her to smile and say:

"Hello, laddie! What's your name?" "Richard Winthrop Hetherington, Jr." was the response.

"Where have you been, Richard, with your flag?"

The boy's face brightened as he answered: "Oh! down to the station to see some of the soldier boys coming home. My uncle will be coming home any day now." He paused a moment for breath, and then continued:

"Why didn't you go down? Haven't you got any sweetheart?"

"No, I haven't, Richard. I guess you will have to find me one."

"All right, I'll try," answered the lad promptly, and then saluting, he shouldered his flag and continued up the road whistling a martial air. Mollie watched him out of sight. She knew he considered himself a whole band leading a company of returning heroes.

Two days later with all the fever of spring cleaning in her blood, Mollie donned her biggest apron and with scrubbing brush and broom made an attack on the past winter's germs and dust. Up on the step-ladder in her bright little kitchen she was scouring paint with her usual vigor when a voice from the open doorway startled her so that she nearly fell from her perch.

"Excuse me! I hope I haven't frightened you, but I knocked and couldn't seem to make anyone hear."

Mollie, clambering down as quickly as possible, saw a young officer in olive-drab uniform, overseas cap in one hand and battered suitcase in the other. He was bronzed from exposure and rather careworn, but even at that Mollie decided he was very good to look at. There was a moment's pause and then he continued:

"Could you direct me to the Hetheringtons? I seem to have lost my way."

"Oh!" Mollie exclaimed, "You must be Richard Winthrop Hetherington, Jr.'s uncle." Then she stopped and blushed scarlet.

"That sure is my number," laughed the young fellow. "My home is in Michigan, but I thought I would stay here for a short time before going on. You must be acquainted with my young nephew."

"I just met him the other evening," said Mollie, and she smiled reminiscently. "They live in that big white house on the hill."

Still John Hetherington lingered. "I could come down some evening while I am here and tell you some great stories about the war if you would like to hear them," he said finally.

Mollie clasped her hands. "Oh, I wish you would! I don't know anyone who has been over there, and I have wanted so much to hear it directly from some one who was in the big battles." After this, John, finding no new excuse to linger, picked up his suitcase and departed.

The weeks flew rapidly by. As John Hetherington explained to his relatives, the peace and beauty of the New England hills were far better for his health than the rush and bustle of the busy West. It apparently took him a good many evenings to tell all his adventures "over there" to Mollie. It also quite often occupied his Sundays. One evening late in August the two sat rather silently in the rose-covered porch of Mollie's little cottage. But it was a silence that contained all speech. The moon had risen in all her glory over the distant purple hills. As John looked up the road he saw his young nephew approaching, whistling as usual. When he reached the white gate he stopped and hung over it to gaze at the pair on the porch.

"Well, little scout, where are you going?" asked John as a general opening to the conversation.

The boy looked gravely at his uncle. "I'm going down to the store to get some nails for dad. He said he asked you to get them, but the place would be closed before you ever reached there, because you wouldn't ever be able to get past Mollie's house."

There was a moment of embarrassed silence, and then John, to relieve the tension, asked:

"And what did you say to that, Dickie?"

"Oh," answered the lad, slowly looking from one to the other, "I told him that I guessed it was all right, 'cause Mollie asked me to get her a sweetheart, and I thought you'd do." Having delivered himself of this piece of eloquence, Richard Winthrop Hetherington, Jr., resumed his journey storeward. The moon very kindly went behind a cloud at this juncture and John turned Mollie's scarlet face toward him.

"Will I do, little sweetheart?" he asked in a low voice.

And Mollie looked in the eyes she had learned to love so dearly, whispering a low "yes," as she hid her blushing face on John's broad shoulder.

—THAT ENDS WELL

By EDNA FOREST.

Mollie had been playing a game, a very interesting and secret game, and she had never been so happy in all her life. The game was "Hide and Seek," of an entirely new, and romantic nature, and Mollie returned from her last exploit in high, but subdued spirits.

Eleanor, the married sister, whom she visited, must not suspect the delightful pastime of her summer afternoons. Eleanor, strictly conventional, would be horror-stricken. The secret game had begun by chance, and on Mollie's side was the advantage.

When she had arisen early one inviting morning slipping silently down past closed rooms to a dewy garden beneath, she had intended to take but a brief dip in the sea, and when Mollie, disporting herself among the waves, looked down the isolated beach, she fancied herself monarch—or perhaps monarch "ess," of all she surveyed.

As she sat upon a great stone in the early sunshine, she saw, however, that another as ambitious as she, was swimming about in the blue.

Mollie in embarrassment, darted again into the water, going further out than she had heretofore ventured, and being roughly brought to her senses by the swimmer himself.

"It is dangerous for you to be out here alone," he said, "I am returning to the hotel. You'd better come back."

Mollie suddenly weakened, requested breathlessly, his help.

When the two reached the shore, she resting in the warm sands, thanked him, beginning in her pretty way, a sort of "holding" conversation.

The man at least was held by it, for he made no motion to carry out his intention of returning to the hotel. And this was Mollie's advantage from the beginning. She recognized at once in her rescuer, a certain noted curate from the city, whose arrival at the resort had been heralded a few days before. Eleanor, indeed, was an attendant at his city church.

But the curate himself was left unenlightened as to Mollie's knowledge of his identity, and ignorant of her own. It was as they were pleasantly chatting that she waved her hand in quick farewell, and literally disappeared.

Mr. Sutherland, Eleanor innocently regretted, was returning to the city at the end of the fortnight and she feared she would have no opportunity of entertaining him at the cottage.

Mollie, in her secret planning, decided to completely disappear from Mr. Sutherland's life before the end of his fortnight, leaving to him ever after but a romantic, and, she hoped, a pleasing memory.

So, she was seated demurely reading in the rector's favorite book as he came down into the glen. Her dress was blue cotton, her white collar and cuffs neat and plain.

Her wide eyes expressed surprise at the rector's appearance. His keen eyes expressed pleasure. When Mollie would have politely departed, he begged her to remain.

The sun proclaimed the noon luncheon hour, when she finally took from Mr. Sutherland, the volume of poems which he had been reading aloud.

"Good-bye," laughed Mollie, and was instantly lost to view among the trees.

Though the rector arose in quest of her, Mollie was gone. Which branching path she had chosen he did not know. But he went back to his seat beneath the oak—to sit again and dream of her. Then at last, Eleanor brought Mollie's fascinating game to an unexpected end.

"Mr. Sutherland, the rector is coming to dinner at five tonight," she said. "I cannot be back from our motor trip until six. He here to welcome him, Mollie, and do make a pleasing impression, dear. Mr. Sutherland's opinion is worth while."

Mollie sighed. So she was to have no memory romance after all, and to the man she would be but a commonplace girl, in a commonplace, modern home.

Freda was admitting the tall figure of the rector as she reached the foot of the stairs. It was impossible for Mollie to retreat. In desperation she slipped into a hall closet beneath the stairs.

Mollie knew after a suffocating lapse in the closet that he had made himself comfortable for a long wait. Hopefully Mollie fumbled along the wall, finding there evidently a maid's enveloping apron. Frantically she stuffed her hair into the starched cap's crown, her feet, sandals and all, went into the shoes, then Mollie opened the closet door.

The rector stared and Mollie stared at a reflection of herself in the mirror. Freda's borrowed apron was far from clean. Mollie's hair was escaping from Freda's cap. Speechlessly, she fled up the stair.

It was Freda who knocked presently at Mollie's door.

"That man," she said, disgustedly, "says he must speak to 'other maid.' He don't believe me that I'm the only maid. You go tell him."

With the laughter light of "hide and seek" still in her eyes, Mollie came, very prettily dressed down the stair.

Eleanor returning later, was astonished to hear her rector happily proclaiming:

"I'm going to see that you stay found, now that I have you at last, Mollie dear."

HIGHEST Quality Awards

Life's Little Peeves.
Life is just one thing after another, but chiefly it is getting up to do something you have forgotten after being comfortably settled in your chair for work or reading.

Really a Cut Price.
Charles had just been vaccinated, and as a reward for his bravery the doctor gave him a quarter. "Thank you for the quarter," said Charles, winking back his tears, "but it was worth a dollar."

Centipede a Fly Killer.
The centipede is found pretty much all over the world. The species common in the United States Scutigera coleoptrata, was reported over a century ago as devoting the lights to killing house flies. Later an observer detected on, in the act of capturing a butterfly much larger than itself. The insect remains concealed during the day under doorsteps or window frames, or any crevice sufficiently large to hide its numerous appendages.

Most Valuable Diamonds.
Diamonds are found with a wide variety of coloring but those that are virtually colorless but which are spoken of as being blue-white are most valuable.

Japanese Marriage Agencies.
Marriage agencies in Japan are now limited to 25 pesos fee on each match made. One peso for an introduction five for a hunt for a life partner and the rest for actually binding two together are the legal prices.

Honor Is John Wesley's.
The term "Methodist" was first applied to Charles Wesley, and not to John Wesley, the real founder of Methodism. And it was applied as a term of ridicule, or as an epithet. Charles Wesley was a student at Oxford, where, as he says, he began "to observe the method of study prescribed by the university." He must have been a stickler for "method," for he was always using the word. "This gained me the nickname of Methodist," he says in one of his letters.

The Hour-Glass.

Instead of being obsolete the hour-glass in various forms is a present-day necessity. An authority points out that for such purposes as trimming, hardening and tempering heats in twist drill manufacture where seconds or minutes must be gauged accurately, nothing serves like the hour-glass with the right amount of sand.

Good Taste.

Good taste is the conscience of the mind. Lowell's definition is compact of thought and is worth dwelling upon. Good taste is a trait we all agree in valuing, though its meaning as a rule is rather vaguely felt; we urge its cultivation and admire its exercise but the quality itself is generally less analyzed than desired.—Hartley Alexander.

She Wanted Progress.

"No, sah, Ah don't neber ride on dem things," said an old colored lady looking in on the merry-go-round. "Why, de other day I seen dat Rastus Johnson git on an' ride as much as a dollar's worth an' git off at the very same place he got on at, an' I sez to him: 'Rastus, I sez, 'yo' spent yo' money, but whar yo' been?'—Boston Transcript.

Pumpernickel.

Pumpernickel is the rye bread used by the Westphalian peasants, which in some other parts of Germany is regarded as a great delicacy. The loaves are sometimes 60 pounds in weight. The name is said to have originated in the saying of a French cavalry soldier, who rejected the bread with disgust, saying it was only "Bon pour Nicholas"—that is, fit or good for Nicholas, his horse.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Charles Dean Friday afternoon. Mrs. Dean and Mrs. B. A. Dawes were chosen as delegates to attend the convention at LaGrange. A delightful course of salads was served.

Combines Three Signals.

A newly designed triple-tone electric bell yields a clear ring from one push button, a buzz from the second, and a combined ring and buzz from the third. The buttons may be placed on three different doors of a house, or in office or shop the signals may be used for calling three different persons.

I Am Not Poor.

Pray hold me not in scorn. I am not poor. Poor rather is the man who desires many things. Where shall I take my place? Where in a little time from henceforth you shall know. Do you answer for yourself! From henceforth in a little time.—Leonardo da Vinci (translated by Edward McCurdy).

To Save Charred Documents.

Documents that have been charred by fire are rendered readable if collodion is poured over the charred paper. In a few minutes this dries and a tough, transparent coating is produced through which the printing can be seen. Bank notes and other papers thus charred have been treated in this way with success.

New Zealand Lumber Vanishing.

At the present rate of increase in the consumption of native lumber in New Zealand it is estimated that the supply of standing timber will last not more than 30 years.

Best Fruits of Romance.

A speaker was taken aback during a Sunday school session. He had been commenting on the blessings of matrimony, and just to see whether or not the class was really paying attention, asked one girl what she considered to be the best fruits of romance. The girl pondered a moment and then answered: "I should say the wedding date and the bridal pair."

About the Tourmalines.

Tourmalines were discovered to us as gems in the eighteenth century, when some Dutch children, playing with bright colored stones on a warm summer day, noticed that they attracted and held straws and ashes. For some time after this the stones were called "ash drawers," and later it was discovered that they have electric power, greater than the degrees of 100 and 200 Fahrenheit.

Pleasures Coming Fast.

Merle was fond of bananas. When his father took him into his mother's room to see the new brother that had arrived the night before the child was given a banana as he left the door. "Gee," he cried delightedly: "a new brother and a banana, both the same day!"

First Advertisement.

Although the first periodical paper which contained news in England appeared in May, 1622, the first newspaper advertisement published does not seem to have been until nearly twenty-five years afterward. The advertisement related to the sale of a book "applauded by the Clergy of England."

About the Carat.

The "carat," the unit of weight peculiar to jewelry, was introduced from India. Man sought to record the weight of small objects by using tiny seeds. The barley grain was used in Europe. In the East the seeds of a vetch were in use, and it is from the Greek word for vetch (keration) that the now familiar term "carat" is derived.

Garrard County Court.

Regular Term 25th day of August, 1919.

Present: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge. G. B. Swinebroad, et al, on Petition. To vote on Stock Law in Magisterial District No. 1.

The Fiscal Court of Garrard County having heretofore decided by a majority of the members, composing said Court, that elections to regulate Stock running at large, under Chapt. 122 Kentucky Statutes shall be confined to Magisterial Districts: Now this day came G. B. Swinebroad, Jack Adams, Geo. F. Brown, et al, and filed a written petition in this Court signed by more than twenty legal voters of Magisterial District No. 1, composing voting precincts Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of said County asking a submission of the question whether cattle, or any species thereof, shall be permitted to run at large in Justice District No. 1 in Garrard County Kentucky, composed of three voting precincts to wit: Court House No. 1, East Park No. 2 and West Park No. 3.

It is now therefore ordered by the Court that an election be held in said Magisterial District No. 1, for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such Magisterial District upon the question of whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, to run at large in said District, and the officers of the election in such District in said voting precincts Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are directed to open a Poll at the next regular election to be held in said District on Tuesday November 4th, 1919, for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such District upon the question whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, generally to run at large in said District.

Said Petitioners deposited with the County Court at the time of filing of the petition herein the sum of twenty five dollars ($25.00) the amount fixed by the Court to defray the expenses of the election upon this question.

The County Clerk and Sheriff are directed to advertise and give notice of said election by publication thereof at least twenty days before the election in at least four issues of the Central Record, a newspaper published in Lancaster Garrard County,

Ky., Kentucky, and having the largest bona-fide circulation in said county.

Said Clerk will take all necessary steps required by law to hold said election in accordance with said provision of Sec's No. 4646, 4647, 4648, 4649, 4650 and 4651 of Carrolls edition of the Kentucky Statutes.

A true copy: Attest
J. B. BOURNE, Clerk G. C. C.
By Cronley Broadbuss, D. C.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held at the regular voting places at the regular November election, on Tuesday November 4th, 1919 as directed by, and pursuant to, and in accordance with the foregoing order of the Garrard County Court.

J. B. BOURNE, Clerk G. C. C.

Garrard County Court.

Regular Term 28 day of July 1919
Present: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge. N. J. Gosney, et al On Petition.

To vote on Stock Law in Magisterial District No. 2.

The Fiscal Court of Garrard County having heretofore decided by a majority of the members, composing said Court, that elections to regulate Stock running at large, under Chapt. 122 Kentucky Statutes shall be confined to Magisterial Districts: Now this day came N. J. Gosney, E. W. Perkins, W. S. Bowling et al, and filed a written petition in this Court signed by more than twenty legal voters of Magisterial District No. 2 composing voting precincts Nos. 4 and 5 of said County asking a submission of the question whether cattle, or any species thereof, shall be permitted to run at large in Justice District No. 2 in Garrard County Kentucky, composing of two voting precincts to wit: West Bryantsville No. 4 and East Bryantsville No. 5.

It is now therefore ordered by the Court that an election be held in said Magisterial District No. 2 for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such Magisterial District upon the question of whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, to run at large in said District, and the officers of the election in such District in said voting precincts Nos. 4 and 5 are directed to open a Poll at the next regular election to be held in said

District on Tuesday November 4th, 1919, for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such District upon the question whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, generally to run at large in said District.

Said Petitioners deposited with the County Court at the time of filing of the petition herein the sum of twenty five dollars ($25.00) the amount fixed by the Court to defray the expenses of the election upon this question.

Garrard County Court.

Regular Term 25th day of August 1919.

Present: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge. A. T. Sanders, et al, on Petition. To vote on Stock Law in Magisterial District No. 3.

The Fiscal Court of Garrard County having heretofore decided by a majority of the members, composing said Court, that elections to regulate Stock running at large, under Chapt. 122 Kentucky Statutes shall be confined to Magisterial Districts: Now this day came A. T. Sanders, Talton May, Wesley Simpson, W. B. Ray et al, and filed a written petition in this Court signed by more than twenty legal voters of Magisterial District No. 3 composing voting precincts Nos. 6 and 7 of said County asking a submission of the question whether cattle, or any species thereof, shall be permitted to run at large in Justice District No. 3 in Garrard County Kentucky, composed of two voting precincts to wit: Buckeye No. 6 and Walker School House No. 7.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that an election be held in said Magisterial District No. 3 for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such Magisterial District upon the question of whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, to run at large in said District, and the officers of the election in such District in said voting precincts Nos. 6 and 7 are directed to open a Poll at the next regular election to be held in said District on Tuesday November 4th 1919 for the purpose of ascertaining the will of the voters of such District upon the question whether or not they wish Cattle, or any species thereof, generally to run at large in said District.

Said Petitioners deposited with the County Court at the time of filing of the petition herein the sum of twenty five dollars ($25.00) the amount fixed by the Court to defray the expenses of the election upon this question.

The County Clerk and Sheriff are directed to advertise and give notice of said election by publication thereof at least twenty days before the election in at least four issues of the Central Record, a newspaper published in Lancaster Garrard County, Kentucky, and having the largest bona-fide circulation in said county.

Said Clerk will take all necessary steps required by law to hold said election in accordance with said provision of Sec's No. 4646, 4647, 4648, 4649, 4650 and 4651 of Carrolls edition of the Kentucky Statutes.

Garrard County Court.

Regular Term 25th day of August 1919.

Present: Hon. Forest Stapp, Judge. J. B. Woods et al, on Petition. To Vote on Stock Law in Magisterial District No. 4.

The Fiscal Court of Garrard County having heretofore decided by a majority of the members, composing said Court, that elections to regulate Stock running at large, under Chapt. 122 Kentucky Statutes shall be confined to Magisterial Districts: Now this day came J. Jelly Plant.

Comparatively few people know, says the American Forestry Magazine, that we are getting jelly from plants. The Reselle plant has high commercial value in the Philippines, Hawaii and other Pacific Islands. The plant is an annual and attains a height of seven feet. It is probably the only plant in cultivation in which the part utilized for food is the only which has excellent qualities for the manufacture of jelly and allied products.

Tapestries Brought High Prices.

A collection of rare and costly tapestries and furniture belonging to the estates of Augustus Kuntze, James Stillman, and others, was sold at the American Art galleries in New York recently, and brought a total of $57,117.50. Charles, of London, paid $8,000, the top price, for a set of four allegorical tapestries, Italian, of the sixteenth century; $6,500 for an Italian Renaissance tapestry, "Harvesting," and $5,000 for an Italian Renaissance hunting tapestry.

Love's Labor Lost.

A young and enthusiastic golfer at a dinner party started to enumerate to his partner the details of a golf match that he had been playing that day. It was not until dessert was brought in that he suddenly bethought himself that he had been talking all the time; indeed, the young lady at his side had not said a single word during the progress of the meal. "I am afraid I have been boring you with this talk," he said in half apology. "Oh, no—not at all!" was the polite response. "Only, what is golf?"

GROWING DEMAND FOR COTTAGE CHEESE

Making Cottage Cheese.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Much cottage cheese was eaten last year, because it saved meat. The campaign to increase its use was carried on in every state. This year, because they have learned to like this dairy product, people want to know more of the manufacture and use of cottage cheese. State-wide work for this purpose is being carried on again in Iowa, Michigan, Kansas, and Utah. In these states the home manufacture of cottage cheese and butter, when conditions warrant, will be encouraged by the state and federal dairy authorities, and efforts to increase the general use of cottage cheese will be made.

In New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island, educational work to teach housewives the value of skimmed milk products is being carried on in the cities. The places where the women demonstrators are endeavoring to create a demand are situated where there is usually a surplus of skim milk. Dairy specialists will also help the milkmen in their efforts to manufacture cottage cheese of extra quality.

WASTE OF MUCH TIME AND MONEY WHEN POOR DRESS MATERIAL IS REMODELED

It is a Waste of Time and Good Dye to Attempt to Color Some Garments.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"It's all very well," said Mrs. Connor, "to talk about making over clothes, but I haven't found that it pays at all."

As Mrs. Stanton leaned forward to answer, the other women of the club leaned back comfortably in their rocking chairs to enjoy more fully this discussion of clothes, the subject so dear to every feminine heart.

"You and I surely have had different results, then. Everything I am wearing today has been made over, or at least changed in some way from its original style, and I am sure this suit and blouse are wearing as well as any I might have bought this spring," Mrs. Stanton answered.

"What makes the difference? Your clothes look wonderfully well and those which I have remodeled have that rather forlorn, made-over look at first, and show worn places and holes before I have worn them more than a month or so."

Good Workmanship Counts.

"Perhaps it is because, while I buy fewer clothes than you, I get better material in the first place and always take better care of them than you do. You know you are always looking for bargains and argue that buying cheap things does away with the necessity of hemming, cleaning regularly, and hanging up your clothes carefully, as I do mine."

"I remember, when I bought this suit, there was another one which I liked almost as well for less money, but, since I realized the material in it would look shabby by the end of one year's service, I decided on this one. I wore this one quite steadily for two years and then remade it this spring. It can easily be worn another year. In the meantime, I have enjoyed wearing the suit because I have always felt well-dressed and comfortable when I had it on. The happy combination of good material and good workmanship showed in it and I have been contented to get along without some other clothes I might otherwise have been inveigled into buying."

"Well, perhaps that is true of your suit, but I doubt whether you have better material in that blouse you have on than there was in the one I attempted to dye. It was mustard colored, done in that gay embroidery such as everyone was wearing a year ago. I was tired and sick of it, though it was not in the least shabby, so I thought I'd color it. As soon as I put it in water, all the different colors used in the embroidery started running and the result is a smeared rainbow effect."

Startling Colors Under Suspicion.

"That brings up a point I intended to mention. We, with limited clothes allowances, can't afford to buy clothes that are in good style, perhaps, but extreme. Startling colors and extreme fashions are not allowed in my wardrobe, for they are always expensive and seldom remain in good taste for any length of time."

"In the library the other day, I found a leaflet I'm sure you would like," she added, turning to the group as a whole, "for every word in it is valuable. One thing, I remember, was to remodel only when the material has enough wear in it to warrant the necessary work and cost of new material. The librarian told me we could get copies from the home demonstration agent. I would suggest that we get copies for discussion at some future meeting and have the demonstrator talk to us about it."

These women are not more interested in clothes and how to get value received from them than thousands of others are. All will want the leaflet, "Wise Spending Saves Clothing for the Family," together with the other thrift leaflets which the United States department of agriculture will send free on request. They will help you solve many questions.
